Invitation to renew your British Safety Council membership: S0429020

Dear Tonye,

It's that time! Your British Safety Council membership is now due for renewal and ends on 4th June 2021. We are here to support you and need your support more than ever.

Why renew your membership?

As a charity, it is only through the support of members like you that we are able to fulfil our mission that no one should be injured or made ill through their work. Your continued membership with British Safety Council ensures you will not only have access to amazing benefits, but you can continue your journey to health and safety best practice.

What happens to your membership fees?

British Safety Council is a charity. We support, educate, provide resources and influence employers, practitioners, individuals and policymakers around the world to prioritise health, safety and wellbeing best practice in the workplace.

We pass on our expert knowledge through membership services, resources, tools, publications, training, free events and our consultancy and audit services, so that organisations are able to protect their workforce and their businesses.

Never has this been more important than now, during the global coronavirus pandemic. We have been able to support many who have been displaced by new ways of working, through offering free online training and resources. These free resources have helped thousands of people adapt to a changing working environment, ensuring that they are still healthy and safe wherever they are working. We also made our recent annual conference, Wellbeing in the Workplace, completely free to attend in order to benefit all organisations.

We couldn't have done this without the support of members like you, the champions of health and safety in the workplace. Your membership subscriptions and engagement with us, helps us to understand the challenges and shape the solutions for employers.

We have regrettably had to increase our membership prices slightly this year due to the unprecedented pressures brought on by COVID-19. This will support our ongoing charitable work and enable more resources, advice, guidance and events to be offered. We have also added more features to your member benefits as set out below.
